Active during the Revolution, this husbandman stood firmly on behalf of the colonies, contributing, as a patriot, his humble means to the victories of the Revolution; and his record is thus still to be found upon the test-lists at the capital of New Hampshire. Thus did John (Lieut.) live, an honest, industrious, frugal life; faithful to his God, to man, to law, and to the freedom of his country. He left the world on the twenty-seventh day of April, 1842, at the venerable age of 90 years. His generous, frugal wife died Nov. 17, 1832, at the age of 69. They rest at their old homestead, with several sons, daughters, and others of their descendants, who are also within the same sacred enclosure. Children: --79 Bridget Caverly, b. Aug. 21, 1779; m.
